often. But this trek is different, he said. This will be more like a NASCAR run.

Keller needs to complete the journey in 60 days. Carrie is getting married March 13 and Julie on April 23.

He's realistic about weather challenges. While his plans are to start the day after Christmas, Keller says the start will depend on the amount of snow. He will also take a short break if there are sub-zero temperatures or blizzards. Regardless, he'll keep riding in good weather for his record-breaking ride.
